

Table of contents

Introduction: 'Figure / trauma / terror'

Jonathan Harris

1 'The migrant image: fear of 'replacement' and the resurgence of white nationalism'

Dora Apel

2 'Facing Franco's terror: visual arts and the fate of memory'

Paula Barreiro López

3 'A transgenerational reparation for the damage of torture through drawing dreams and performance'

Marisa Cornejo

4 'After Mosul: the cultural and political economy of destruction and reconstruction'

Anthony Downey

5 '"They make a desert and they call it peace": states of terror and contemporary artistic response in the Middle East'

Jonathan Harris

6 'Re-inscriptions of terror and terrorism since Mallarmé: Wassily Kandinsky and Gerhard Richter'

Lewis Johnson

7 'Harold Pinter and state terrorism'

Aleksandar Sasha Dundjerović

8 '"Terrorism", "rebellion", "resistance": excavating the role of art in activist social transformation'

Jonathan Day

9 'Shakespeare and terrorism'

David Roberts

10 'All that is certain vanishes into air: tracing the anabasis of the Japanese Red Army'

Naeem Mohaiemen

11 'Media hijack: Chris Burden and the logic of terrorism'

Mathew Teti